

Nursery attendance

Why is nursery attendance important, what are they even missing?

Nursery is fundamental to the physical, social and emotional development of children. Below are observations of our children taken in just one day. The learning from these pictures range from: understanding the world, maths, technology, friendships skills, speaking and listening, collaboration, resilience, personal care, literacy, phonics and so much more. Continued and prolonged time in the nursery environment allows children to develop key core skills they will use throughout not just their time at school but their entire life. Did you know that by being just 15 minutes late to school this can equate to 10 lost school days?

See for yourself why attendance is so incredibly important.
